Become a Freelance eLearning Developer at AHLEX
(Specialised in Storyline, Easygenerator, or FlowSparks with an aviation focus)

AHLEX (Aviation Hub for Learning & Experience) is building the largest knowledge platform for airport-based learning and development. We are committed to shaping a sustainable future where safety, security, and operational excellence are at the core of airport training.

Join us in building the airport of the future!

Your destination
At AHLEX, we develop training and learning solutions for organisations across various sectors, with a strong focus on aviation. Our eLearning modules cover operational safety, compliance, process optimisation, and customer-focused behaviour within aviation environments. We believe in learning by doing, clear communication, and solid instructional design.

To strengthen our team, we're looking for a Freelance eLearning Developer (Storyline, Easygenerator, FlowSparks – Aviation Focus) (M/F/X). In this project-based role, you will be responsible for developing digital learning solutions tailored to the aviation sector.

Your mission is to transform expert content into interactive modules that align with the operational realities and safety standards of the industry.

Your flight instructions
- You develop e-learning modules using Articulate Storyline, Easygenerator, and/or FlowSparks.
- You translate content and storyboards into engaging learning experiences rooted in the aviation sector.
- You apply aviation-specific terminology, processes, and safety standards accurately in your materials.
- You deliver responsive modules that work seamlessly for on-site or on-the-go learners.
- You test and optimise modules based on feedback from users and colleagues.
- You actively contribute to the didactic structure, learning formats, and interactive elements within an aviation context.

Your passport
- You have proven experience with at least one of the following tools:
    - Articulate Storyline
    - Easygenerator
    - FlowSparks
- You have a strong interest in, or experience with, the aviation sector.
- You work independently, meet deadlines, and deliver uncompromising quality.
- You communicate effectively with project managers, subject-matter experts, and other stakeholders.
- You're a quick learner and easily master new tools or topics.

Check-In
Ready to come on board? Send your CV, motivation letter, and portfolio or samples of eLearning modules to development@ahlex.eu and you might soon join us as an AHLEX eLearning Developer!

Nice to Have (Not Required)
- Experience in an airport, airline, ground handling company, or aviation training provider
